Thanks for coming Nick! When I saw that play it made me realize that it can really hurt people and hurt people's feeling to be bullied. Thanks again for coming. Ericka P.S. Look inside for before and after pictures about bullying!

EDD KAY NICK THANKS! Thank you for teaching us not to be a bully. It helped us. Sincerely, Jennifer

~

THANK YOU NICK! I LEARNED THAT TEASING IS BEING A BULLY! Sincerely, Tyler

~

Dear Kay, The play was cool. I wish you could come back. From, Emily

~

Dear Kay and Ed and Nick, Thank you for coming to our school and putting on a play for us. I learned that if a bystander tells an adult about bullying things will go much better for the victim. Sincerely, Nina

~

Thank you for your time. I loved your play. It was very fun and I learned a lot of stuff from the play. It was great. From, Ryan

Thanks Ed! You showed me a lot of things. Like how you told Nick or Chris that you didn't like it when they bullied you! From, Kolin

Dear Kay and Nick and Ed, Thank you for coming. I really appreciate it. I learned that instead of just letting bullying happen you should do these three steps: 1. Stand up for yourself. 2.Wait a little bit. If that doesn't work use the third step and 3. tell a grown up. That should work. Or you could try to include them. They could be bullying because they are jealous or were abused or bullied when they were younger. You would be in a sticky spot if you were any of the three: bully, victim or bystander. Thanks again for coming and helping. Abby

Dear Ed, Thank you for doing this play. I learned that you can make a difference by standing up to the bully that's bullying you. I also learned that it's embarrassing to be bullied. I guess that it's hard to say stop to a bully. You did a great job in the play! Sincerely, Cole
